

1553

Edward VI died, and Mary 1 became queen. She was also called 'Bloody Mary' because she ordered Christians, who were not Catholics, to be burned.