

KidsClick is a browser that categorises information into groups—much like books in a library.

It also has a search tool so that you can ask the browser to find information that you want. You can choose to search for information, pictures, sounds or lessons

AskJeeves is the only search engine where you can ask simple questions to find information that you want. Jeeves tries to give you a page with the answer that you want.

There is also an option to search for pictures

You can also look at popular questions that other people have been asking.

Google is currently rated as the most popular search engine. It has the largest database of web pages and also links to many other types of files (such as '.doc' and '.pdf')

Since Google has been designed as an adult search engine it can link to all sorts of information that might not be suitable for children—for many different reasons.

Yahooligans is a search engine designed for children between the ages of 7 and 12. Each site on Yahooligans has been checked by a real person to ensure that the information is suitable for this age group.

Yahoolighans has additional features for children such as games, movies, reference and Parents and Teachers' Guides.

Pics4Learning is a special type of search engine as it is only for pictures.

Pictures are chosen that are good for education and for children.

There are a range of search options so that you can search or brows for pictures. There are a range of search options—such as popular images, lesson plans, and topic areas.